I'm writing about another Police Chief in PA. An interview with him can be heard in a link from the web site listed above. It's in the "Police and Military"section.

Chief Kessler is proposing to his City Council what the U.S. Constitution allows, tenth amendment nullification, and many Americans want that. He, and they, want America to remain free from any further gun control measures that may come from his state, or the federal government, in the near future.

There is much new information coming through about the Sandy Hook incident, which is on the above site. I grieve with the parents of any little children who were killed then. However, it's obvious that additional gun control is not the answer, and it has the potential to create crime problems all over the U.S., because statistics prove that criminals prey upon the unarmed.

Nullification is very popular, as you can see by the number of Cities, Counties, and States that are nullifying the NDAA shown on the above web site. Four counties in Colorado nullified important provisions of the NDAA.

Nullification of present, or future, federal and state rulings regarding gun control is also rapidly taking place from State and County Governments. Sheriffs all over the country are nullifying with the stroke of a pen.

The founders of this great nation looked at history, and examined every possible move toward tyranny in the future. They ensured, as much as possible, that we have checks and balances in the governmental systems. Mainly, what we are left with now is the first amendment right to free speech, the tenth amendment right of independent governing bodies, and the oath of office you swore to uphold that you will "protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, against all enemies, foreign and domestic."

And so, today, I ask you to honor your oath.
